AUTOISTS HELP TO SWELL COFFERS OF CITY AND COUNTY

Ferry were on the watch for violators of the existing municipal regulations. Mr. Kearney admitted that his car had been traveling at a rather high rate of speed. With a view of securing expert testimony, prosecuting Attorney Chillingworth set the case over until next Tuesday morning. In dealing with the case of W. L. Haney, who was arrested some evenings ago for operating his car with but one side light, the presiding judge believed that Haney was guilty of a violation of the law and therefore assessed him five dollars and costs. Haney stated that he had occasion to relight the lamp on several occasions. The court decided that a defective lamp or equipment was no excuse for an infraction of existing regulations. The fine was settled.

Cutting corners on downtown streets by auto drivers is a matter that of late has received the attention of a squad of police officers with the result that a series of complaints are soon to be drawn up in which the names of a number of well known local business men and others are predicted to figure with more or less prominence. Taking station at the corner of Alakea and King streets some evenings ago, Special Officers Chilton and Perry took the numbers of cars that passed this busy and congested section of the city. It is pointed out that section twenty-nine of city and county ordinance No. 11 covers a point where excessive speed at street intersections is discovered. D. B. Case paid a fine of five dollars and costs for no number on lamps.

Police Notes

Profanity, of the most lurid type, launched at a police officer while in the performance of his duty, caused the arrest of Jack Long, a denizen of Camp No. "2."

Wielding a gin bottle, Mrs. Pulinov, a Russian woman, is alleged by police as having placed her spouse hors de combat as a result of the encounter. The man was sent to the police station where he received first aid treatment.

Daniel Keoho was taken in charge by the police it being alleged that he used extreme force in an encounter with his wife. The woman was sent to the hospital, to receive treatment for serious injuries said to have been sustained in the affray.

Several Oriental cyclists have made the painful and expensive discovery that in operating bicycles through the streets in a manner contrary to the municipal regulations is a rather expensive luxury. When found guilty in the police court, small fines were imposed.

Several inquiries have been made at police station by parties interested in establishing the identity of the remains of two men who have recently been found dead and exposed at isolated spots in the district of Moanalua. Local Chinese who viewed the body of the man found yesterday were unable to offer a clue to assist the police in their effort to clear up the mystery. Deputy Sheriff and Coroner Charles Rose made arrangements for the burial of the Chinese at Pearl Harbor cemetery.

With the assistance of four languages, a sextette of dwellers at the famous Vineyard street Camp "2," offered excuses this morning before District Magistrate Monsarrat for having been found among those present at a little card soiree, which was finally interrupted through the official interference of Chief of Detectives McDuffie and several officers.

A full fledged monte game was in progress and the vintage of Hotel street was alleged as flowing freely when the minions of law and order entered the confines of the camp and insisted upon the presence of Hawaiians, Porto Ricans, Spaniards, Portuguese, and Filipinos at the police station. Officer Olson entered the lists today as an expert authority on the ramifications of monte and kindred games of chance. Defendants were finally found guilty and called upon to settle nominal fines.

Believed to be a victim of tuberculosis, action has been taken to have John Lua, a notorious criminal under the custody of High Sheriff Henry, removed to the Leahi Home. Recommendations that this be done have been made by the board prison inspectors to the governor. Deputy Attorney-General Arthur G. Smith for investigation. The board does not ask that he be pardoned or paroled. It asks that he be merely treated at the home for the disease. Other recommendations made by the board, which likewise have been placed before Mr. Smith, are for the pardon of Oso, whose sentence expires in December, and a pardon for Kimtori, whose term expires in February, and who is said also to be a tubercular victim.

REPUBLICANS IN DOUBT AS TO RESIGNING

Chairman von Damm Offers to Quit, but the Committee Declines to Accept—To Change Rules

Chairman Bertram von Damm of the Republican county committee submitted his resignation to the committee last night together with the suggestion that the committee is receiving such slim backing that it might be well for all to resign.

Vigorous opposition to such a course arose among the members and a discussion of the subject finally resulted in a decision to appoint a special committee to confer with the territorial central committee relative to a revision of the party rules. It was pointed out that the new primary law necessitates a revision of the rules, and that furthermore, the present party regulations do not prescribe any way in which the county committee can step out as a whole, no provision for filling the vacancies being in the rules. The special committee, appointed by the chair consists of Walter Coombs, John H. Wise and Clarence Crabbe.

Secretary John H. Wise of the committee declared that the demand for resignation of the committee had not been voiced by many precincts and that the dissatisfaction is being shown by "outsiders who want to be insiders." He said the committee should not resign until some way to fill the vacancies was provided.

Committeeman Walter Coombs of the twelfth precinct, fifth district, spoke strongly against resignations. "We have no right to quit now," he said. "It would be political cowardice. What we need to do is to get to work and prove that the confidence put in us was not misplaced. It would not be resignation but disorganization."

Two Plans Suggested. Discussion over this point continued for half an hour and finally Wise's motion prevailed that a special committee should be named to carry to the territorial committee the sense of the county committee that the party rules be revised. Two plans are suggested for this, either that the territorial committee draft the new rules or that a rules convention be called with delegates from each precinct in the territory. The latter plan seemed more generally favored last night.

A number of reports from precinct clubs were received. There was no report from the first of the fourth district. The second of the fourth sent as its committee man R. S. Kelly, elected by the club to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of R. J. Buchly. The county committee regretfully concluded that the party had no more than the committee can fill vacancies among its members from lived up to, but the confirmation of Kelly's appointment was deferred so that he might have a standing at last night's meeting. The question of filling the vacancy was passed.

The third of the fourth reported the endorsement of Chairman von Damm, who is also its committeeman. The fourth endorsed Committeeman W. R. Farrington and the fifth endorsed Committeeman L. M. Judd. Mr. Judd furthermore presented in detail recommendations for reorganization of party machinery, which were published in full in the Star-Bulletin yesterday afternoon. These recommendations are for direct election of county and county platform committeemen, for methods of choosing the territorial committee and territorial platform committee, and for other things to carry out the spirit and letter of the primary law. On account of their length, reading was deferred last night.

President Clarence Crabbe of his club asked the resignation of the county committee and that he had his resignation in his pocket but did not know to whom to present it, and dwelt on the point that no provision is made for the present contingency. John Wise reported an informal meeting in the tenth of the fourth and the sense of the meeting that its present committeeman, Wise, is satisfactory.

Few Meetings in Fifth. Scattered reports were received from the fifth district. The seventh of the fifth endorsed Committeeman F. E. Greenfield and passed a resolution urging activity in party work. The ninth of the fifth, it was reported, thought the county committee ought to resign but endorsed the present committeeman and was rather vague as to what should be done. The tenth of the fifth held no meeting. Committeeman Franson reported, and no interest was shown.

Committeeman Clifford Kimball of Waialua, it was reported, was perfectly satisfactory to his precinct and no complaints were received. Rudolph Duncan, committeeman of the eleventh of the fifth, said all is going well in his precinct. Walter Coombs was endorsed as the twelfth's committeeman and he said that his club is not asking the resignation of the county committee. S. P. C. Correa reported for the thirteenth of the fifth that what is wanted there is a real campaign of education. Committeeman Correa was endorsed and the club shows signs of much activity.

Wants to Know New Law. Reports indicated that most of the other precincts held no meetings. General requests were received that the county committee get busy on the campaign of education among the voters.

It was after the reports were all in that Chairman von Damm suggested that resignations were in order and that his own is available. "The lack of interest shown indicates to me that this committee has not the backing of the party to the extent necessary if we are to do the work that is ahead of the committee," he said. He declared that he believed the lack of interest means lack of confidence in the committee and said that the thing to do probably was to resign. As told above, this was not agreed to by the committee, and the plan for party rule revision was decided upon.

With a view to making complete arrangements for the second annual conference of all territorial business organizations, the special committee appointed by the chamber of commerce to confer with the committees of other civic bodies, met yesterday in the office of E. C. Atherton and decided to invite the commercial club

Chairman von Damm said: "A few of the communications before us are criticizing this county committee and the majority are endorsing individual county committeemen. From many precincts we have not heard at all."

"Very little or nothing is said about confidence or lack of it in the county committee or any of its officers."

"In no way can we take the expressions before us as endorsing the committee as a whole. The lack of interest in all precincts, the small attendance of last Friday's meetings throughout this island, although a matter of vital importance to our local party organization was to be discussed, convince me, that this committee as a body will not find the necessary support and cooperation among party workers in readjusting and reorganizing the party. It is therefore my opinion that for the best of our party the county committee should resign in a body to make room for an entirely new set of officers and members, elected by our rank and file, perhaps under new rules to be drafted by the Republican territorial central committee. Rules which might be made to conform in spirit with the progressive and liberal ideas laid down in the lately enacted primary law."

"I for one, am perfectly ready and willing to resign."

Last night's meeting was well attended and much interest was shown. The committee was a good deal at sea as to what course to follow for the present.
